PATTERN NOTES

First row consist of foundation sc instead of chains, because this gives a more elastic basic row.
How to do this you can watch here (a video made by Esther van It's All In A Nutshell)
If this is too difficult you can also begin with a string of ch

My first stitch in each row is a chainless standing dc instead of 2 or 3 ch, This is because the side of your work is so nice straight and you do not get a 'gap' between your first and second stitch.
How I make this stitch is clearly explained here by Esther van It's All In A Nutshell.
If this is too difficult you can also begin with 2 or 3 ch.

In the diagram and description I mentioned the chain string and the chains in the beginning because most of the people are familiar with this type of patterns.

In each row you must increase. This happens in the 2 ch space.
In row 1, 4, 7 ect you increase with 1dc (dc, ch2, dc), but in row 2, 3, 5, 6, you increase with 2 dc (2dc, ch2, 2dc)
So always 1 row but increases 1dc and then 2 rows increase 2dc.

PATTERN

chain 47

1. dc in 5th ch of hook, dc, dc, skip 2 st, dc, dc, (dc, ch2, dc), dc, dc, repeat between  4 more times, skip 2 st, dc, dc, (dc, ch2, dc) in last ch.
2. ch2, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch2 space, dc, dc, skip 2 st, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, repeat between  4 more times, skip 2 st, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc in last st.
3. ch2, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, skip 2 st, dc, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc repeat between  4 more times, skip 2 st, dc, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, and dc in last st.
4. ch2, dc, dc, dc, dc, (dc, ch2, dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, skip 2 st, dc, dc, dc, dc, (dc, ch2, dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, repeat between  4 more times, skip 2 st, dc, dc, dc, dc, (dc, ch2, dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, and dc in last st.
5. ch2, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, skip 2 st, dc, dc, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc repeat between  4 more times, skip 2 st, dc, dc, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, and dc in last st.
6. ch2, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, skip 2st, dc, dc, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc repeat between  4 more times, skip 2 st, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, (2dc, ch2, 2dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, and dc in last st.
7. ch2, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, (dc, ch2, dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, skip 2st, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, (dc, ch2, dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc repeat between  4 more times, skip 2 st, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, (dc, ch2, dc) in ch space, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, dc, and dc in last st.

Repeat this pattern till your yarn turn into black.

In mine case it happened in row 44

The black leftover is for the closure

THE CLOSURE

Measure the diameter of your button, in my case it was 1 inch

Chain 60

Make a loop by making a ss st in the 20th ch of the hook.

If your knot is larger than you make your loop bigger and when your knot is smaller than you make your loop smaller.

Now crochet a sc in each ch, in the last ch another 3 sc and then continue at the bottom, so you hook at the top and bottom of your chain row.

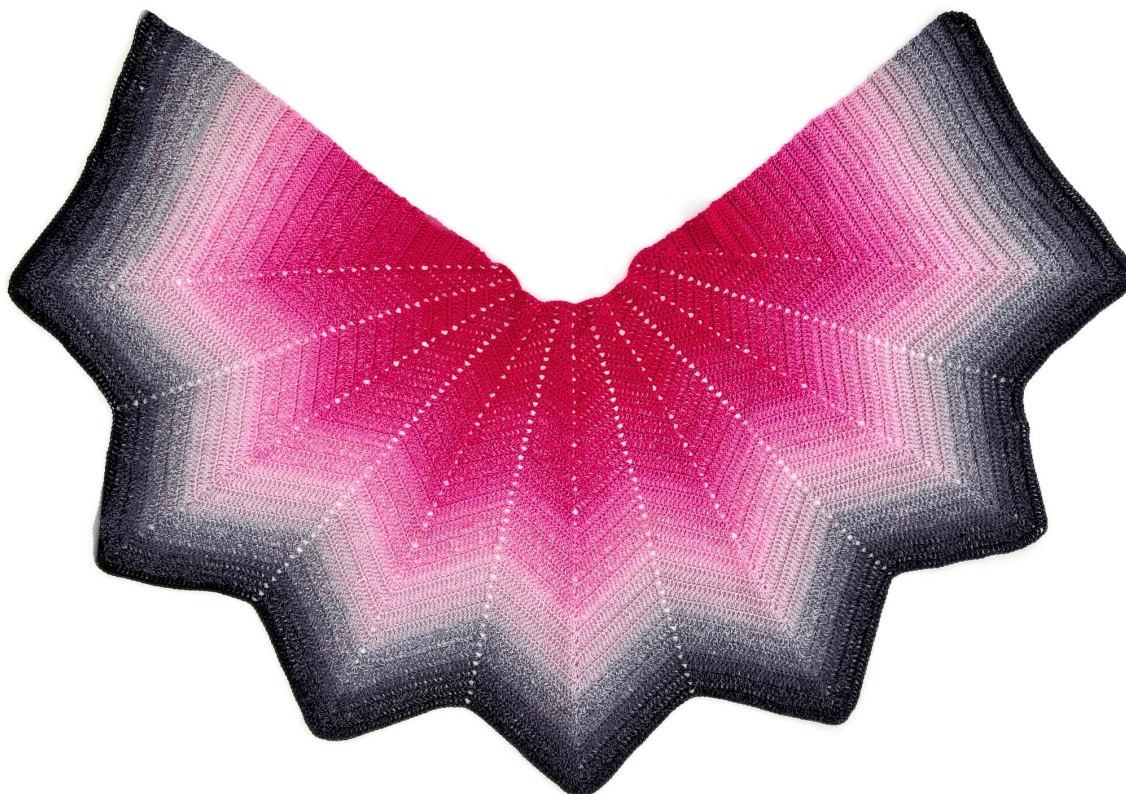

Around the loop 24 sc

Continue with sc in sc, in the corners you always increase by 4, (where you do these increases is not so important)

Crochet 7 rows or as many as you like.

Sew the knot in the middle and you are ready!
